

Mr Lim Eng Hwee

Mr Lim Eng Hwee, 52, was awarded the Colombo Plan Scholarship to study at the University of Auckland where he graduated with a Bachelor of Planning. He was subsequently awarded the URA's Postgraduate Scholarship and obtained a Master in Public Administration from Harvard University in 1997. Mr Lim is presently the Chief Planner and Deputy Chief Executive Officer of the URA.

2 Mr Lim joined URA in 1990 and has almost 30 years of extensive experience in urban planning, urban design and implementation of land use policies and development initiatives. He has played a key role in the master planning of Singapore Suzhou Industrial Township and software transfer programme for Chinese officials. Mr Lim has also served in the Ministry of National Development's Strategic Planning Division from 1995 to 1996 and in the Ministry of Trade and Industry as Deputy Director (Manufacturing & Technology), Industrial Division, from 1999 to 2001 where he helped to drive the Technopreneurship initiative. He has served on the Board of Land Transport Authority and is currently a member of the Science Centre Board and Singapore Cooperation Enterprise Board.

3 As Chief Planner of the URA, Mr Lim sets the direction and coordinates land use and physical development plans across agencies in the government, and works with the private sector to realise the planning vision. Under his guidance, URA completed various Concept Plan studies and Master Plan review exercises. He led the inter-agency efforts during the last review exercise in engaging extensively with community groups, professional bodies and private sector partners to create the vision of an inclusive, highly liveable, economically vibrant and green home for all Singaporeans in the Master Plan 2014.

4 For his contributions, Mr Lim was awarded the Public Administration Medal (Silver) in 2006.

Ms Hwang Yu-Ning

Ms Hwang Yu-Ning is currently Director of Land & Liveability in the Strategy Group of the Prime Minister Office (PMO). In this role, she helps strengthen strategic alignment on land and infrastructure issues across government.

2 Prior to this, Ms Hwang oversaw the preparation of Singapore's statutory land use master plan as Group Director for Physical Planning of the Urban Redevelopment Authority (URA) and led her teams to spearhead development of key growth areas such as the Jurong Lake District and Paya Lebar Central. She has also held various other appointments in the URA and served in the Ministry of National Development (MND) as Deputy Director for Strategic Planning. Given her experience in urban planning, she has been on professional advisory panels such as the International Urban Development association (INTA) Panel of Practitioners and judging panels for the Singapore Institute of Planners and the Singapore Institute of Landscape Architects. She currently sits on the Council for Estate Agencies' Appeal Board and the executive committee of the Urban Land Institute's Singapore National Council.

3 Ms Hwang graduated from the National University of Singapore with a bachelor degree in architecture. She obtained her Master in Public Policy & Urban Planning degree from Harvard University.
